

"Red Rock Landscapes of Southern Utah"

photographs by Larry Heavrin Nov. 10 - Jan. 11

A photograph of a natural rock arch made of reddish-brown sandstone. The arch frames a view of a blue sky with light clouds. The surrounding landscape is rugged and rocky, with some sparse vegetation and a person visible in the lower right corner for scale.

Explore the shapes and colors of Southern Utah thru these amazing photos by this highly published local photographer. His magnificent photos capture the beauty of the southwest while reflecting his love of our National Parks.

Larry Heavrin

270.898.6056 • heavrin@mchsi.com.